EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

Women's Leadership Fellowship Program (WOLF) aims to support Afghan young women in pursuing their degree, to obtain knowledge and skills to future achieve their career goals in counternarcotics area. The project consists of two main components i.e. 5-year scholarship at Asian University for Women (AUW)¹ and fellowship with lasting period from 6 months to 1 year. Separately, under this project we benefit 3 Kardan University alumnae, the beneficiaries of the previous project, by placing them at UNODC Kabul office to complete their fellowship.

The current project was reprogrammed from two main initiatives: the Women's Leadership Fellowship and the Ministry of Counternarcotics Institution Building (MCN IB) project. These projects were interconnected, as the advisors contracted under the MCN IB project and embedded within Afghan ministries also served as supervisors for the previous cohort of students. The total reprogrammed budget allocated for this project amounted to USD 4,146,325.71. The project officially restarted and resumed implementation on 22 February 2024 with the effective date since August 1, 2023.

This report presents an overview of the program's implementation. It outlines the project's goals and objectives, details the criteria and requirements for beneficiary selection, and describes the methods applied to monitor and evaluate progress. The report further highlights the challenges encountered during implementation, the measures taken to address them, and provides key recommendations based on lessons learned before the project's early termination.

The WOLF project was implemented by the Colombo Plan Drug Advisory Programme (CPDAP) in close collaboration with the Asian University for Women (AUW), our long-standing partner since 2017. Additionally, through the partnership established between CPDAP and the UNODC Kabul office, we successfully achieved one of the key project deliverables - the establishment of a fellowship program for Afghan women.

Previously, this project idea was implemented from 2016, and the original WOLF project provided scholarship opportunities to 25 Afghanistan girls to study for 2 years in AUW with placement arrangements of fellowship at MCN directorates for 2 years. Consequently, the project benefited 5 Kardan students who studied in Kabul. All together from 2018 to 2021, 6 Afghan women completed their fellowships at the Ministry of Counter Narcotics, 4 at the Ministry of Agriculture, Irrigation and Livestock (MAIL), 10 at the Ministry of Interior Affairs (MOIA), and 3 at the Ministry of Public Health (MOPH). Three of the benefitted girls dropped out the fellowship due to various reasons, such as other job opportunities, some declined the offer due to unwillingness to join government institutions, and due to personal reasons. 10 girls who joined the program in 2022 could not take on the fellowship because the previous government stopped operating with the Taliban take over.

By August 2021, the Taliban had swept back into power. The Taliban have imposed a harsh interpretation of Islamic law despite pledges to respect the rights of women and religious and ethnic minority communities. Women have seen their rights obliterated. The Taliban have prohibited most girls from attending secondary school, banned all women from attending and teaching at universities, and prevented women from working. In December 2022, the Taliban prohibited women from working at local and international nongovernmental organizations (NGOs). The UN Development Program (UNDP) has estimated that restricting women's employment could cost up to 5 percent of Afghanistan's gross domestic product (GDP). Amnesty International has reported a drastic increase in the number of women arrested for violating discriminatory policies, such as rules requiring women to only appear in public with a male chaperone and to completely cover their bodies. The rates of child marriage have also increased.

In 2022 AUW committed to host more than 350 new Afghan females and made a great effort to transport them from Afghanistan to Bangladesh. Given the uniqueness of the project, which is focused on developing a cadre of young women professionals who are fully equipped to take on positions of influence once Afghanistan re-emerges as a more equal country, the INL and CPDAP agreed to pursue project activities and provide financial aid to 32 Afghan women.

Under the current project, with reprogrammed funds, CPDAP was able to support 32 outstanding Afghan women in pursuing undergraduate degrees, equipping them with specialized knowledge in the field of counternarcotics in addition to their regular university degrees. As part of the five-year degree program, a one-year online internship was planned to organize between the first and second years (UG1 and UG2), in collaboration with international and non-governmental organizations. In addition, two 30-day Counternarcotic Workshops were designed to introduce the beneficiaries to the field of drug control, followed by fellowship placements at various international organizations and NGOs after they graduated.

GOAL

The goal of this project is to provide scholarship opportunities to young Afghan women through higher education and professional development. It provided a bright and motivated students to pursue their undergraduate degrees at AUW in Bangladesh, followed by fellowship placements at various international and non-governmental organizations. In addition, the project supported three alumnae from Kardan University (beneficiaries of the 2020–2021 cohort) by facilitating their fellowship placements at the UNODC office in Kabul. At its core, the initiative aimed to educate, support, and integrate Afghan women into professional networks, with a focus on counternarcotics and public service.

The project funding was received an approval from INL by reprogramming of the 2016-AF-007 and 2016-AF-008 project funds to continue reinforcing the scope of the women program. The initial plan of the reprogramed project would start supporting beneficiaries from August 20, 2023 for 72 months until August 19, 2029.

OBJECTIVES

- The objectives of this project refer to and are related to newly identified needs of Afghan women, specifically the following: Educate 32 Afghan women with undergraduate degrees who wish to pursue careers in the counternarcotics field; and
- Provide valuable professional experience in countering narcotics at international organizations and non-governmental organizations and, increase the professional network of the recent graduates in the counternarcotics, public health, and national security sectors.

DESCRIPTION

The project is structured in two distinct stages, each comprising multiple components of varying durations – all designed to empower women and build their capacity in the field of drug control. Over the course of the five-year scholarship, students complete a preparatory (pre-academic) year, an academic foundation year, and a three-year undergraduate degree program. During the pre-academic and academic years, students focus on English language development, mathematics, computer literacy, academic reading and writing, and social integration skills to prepare them for success in their degree studies.

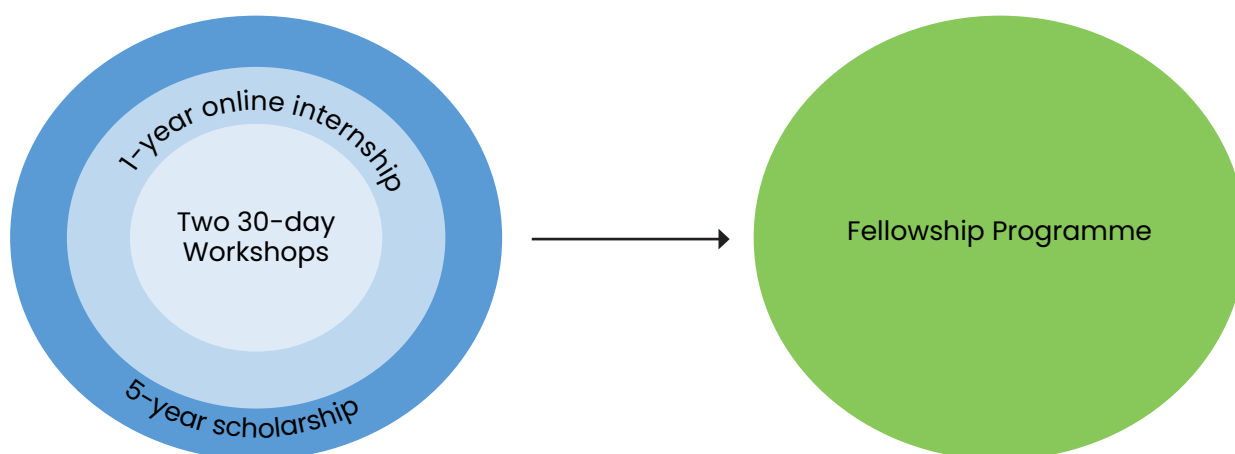

During the scholarship period, it was planned to organize a one-year online internship between the first and second years of undergraduate study. This internship was designed to provide students with initial exposure to the field of counternarcotics and to familiarize them with the operations of international and non-governmental organizations, under the guidance of supervisors from selected agencies.

To further strengthen their subject-matter knowledge, CPDAP also planned two intensive 30-day summer workshops on counternarcotics – one after the second year and another after the third year. These workshops were intentionally scheduled at the end of UG2 and UG3 to align with the students' academic progress and to ensure they had a solid foundation before engaging more deeply with practical fieldwork and professional placements. The workshops aimed to bridge theoretical learning with real-world application by bringing in experts and practitioners from the field.

Upon completion of the five-year scholarship program which combined academic learning with foundational knowledge and skills in counternarcotics, the fellowship component was followed in order to provide participants with practical, and hands-on experience. The goal was to integrate these women into professional environments, allowing them to apply their acquired knowledge in real-world settings and further develop their competencies.

To ensure relevance and impact, fellowship placements were intended to be arranged within organizations operating in the fields of drug demand reduction and supply reduction, particularly those with an international or regional mandate. CPDAP planned to approach selected agencies, including international organizations and NGOs, that are actively engaged in counternarcotics efforts. This final stage of the program aimed to solidify the participants' professional networks and support their long-term contribution to the field.

BENEFICIARY SELECTION

The selection process began since 2016 under the previous project term, stemming from a collaboration between Bangladesh Rehabilitation Assistance Committee (BRAC) and the Asian University for Women (AUW). This partnership facilitated the selection of a new cohort of 350 Afghan students to pursue undergraduate degrees at AUW in Bangladesh, with enrollment scheduled for 2023.

Later, the International Narcotics and Law Enforcement Affairs (INL) endorsed the project by assigning the Colombo Plan Drug Advisory Programme to support 32 of the selected students. This support was provided in close coordination with both AUW and INL.

The selection process involved opening applications to young Afghan women, based on specific criteria. Applicants were required to be at the pre-Academy level and to demonstrate strong motivation for joining the program, along with a clear vision of how they would contribute to Afghanistan's development, particularly in the area of drug control and prevention during the interview.

For the interview stage, AUW provided a shortlist of 42 Afghan girls who had expressed strong interest in enrolling in the project. From this pool, a comprehensive and multi-stage selection process was conducted to ensure the most suitable candidates were chosen.

Ms. Pascal, the project AOR and Ms. Suleymanova, DAP Programme Manager jointly led five rigorous rounds of interviews, designed not only to assess academic preparedness and English language skills but also to evaluate the candidates' personal motivation, leadership potential, and long-term commitment to contributing to drug prevention and development efforts in Afghanistan. Each candidate was assessed on her ability to articulate how participation in the program aligned with their aspirations and how they envisioned using the knowledge gained to support their country's recovery and resilience.

Following this thorough assessment, 32 outstanding young women were selected to participate in the program. These finalists demonstrated exceptional promise, a clear understanding of the project's objectives, and a deep personal commitment to making a positive impact in their communities.

PROJECT ACTIVITIES

This project, with the unique in its nature and scope, was designed to equip young Afghan women with a comprehensive understanding of the multifaceted issues surrounding counternarcotics. From August 2023 to April 2025 (the complete stop work of the project), the Colombo Plan Drug Advisory Programme (CPDAP) provided comprehensive support to the selected beneficiaries to ensure their academic success and overall well-being during their studies at AUW. The assistance included the following components:

- Monthly Stipends: Each student received a monthly stipend of $100. This financial support helped cover their personal expenses, reducing economic stress and allowing them to fully concentrate on their studies.
- Provision of Laptops: CPDAP supplied each student with a personal laptop. This significantly enhanced their ability to engage with coursework, complete assignments, and participate in online learning activities, while also saving time they would otherwise spend waiting to use shared computers in the library or computer labs. An inventory list, including the students' names and the serial numbers of the devices issued to them, is attached to this report. In accordance with INL's approval, the devices were retained by the students following the conclusion of the project.
- Shelter/Accommodation and Meals: The programme fully covered the cost of housing and daily meals. By ensuring safe and stable living conditions, this support created an environment conducive to academic focus and personal development.
- Educational Materials: CPDAP contributed to AUW's efforts to provide essential learning resources by supporting the purchase of textbooks, stationery, and other academic materials necessary for successful learning outcomes.
- Library Access: All students were granted full access to the AUW library, which provided them with additional academic resources and a quiet, supportive space for study and research.
- Participation in University Activities: The students actively participated in a wide range of extracurricular and co-curricular activities organized by the university. These activities funded through the grant allocated by CPDAP included academic workshops, leadership development programs, cultural events, and community engagement initiatives, enriching the students' overall university experience and promoting their holistic development.

- Healthcare Service: The healthcare support covered routine medical consultations, emergency care, and access to prescribed medications when needed. Students were also given access to mental health services, including counseling and psychosocial support, recognizing the importance of emotional resilience in maintaining academic performance and overall quality of life.

Throughout the duration of the current project, CPDAP maintained close and active collaboration with the AUW to ensure the academic success and overall well-being of the supported students. As part of this partnership, academic support was continuously provided, including regular follow-up on each student's academic progress. CPDAP made three financial transfers to AUW, as outlined in the Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) signed between the two parties in April 2024. The total amount of the grants given to AUW is $ 1,061,079.89 covering the payment for the period of August 1, 2023 to July 31, 2025.

In addition to academic oversight, CPDAP extended administrative support to the students by addressing program-related concerns and facilitating smooth coordination between the students and AUW. To strengthen this effort, CPDAP appointed Ms. Poushali Barua, Programme Assistant as a dedicated staff member in October 2024. Her role included providing direct assistance to the beneficiaries, resolving administrative issues, on site coordinator and serving as a key liaison between the students, AUW, and the Colombo Plan team.

From 18 to 21 November 2024, the International Narcotics Control Board (INCB) conducted the GRIDS cross-border training and networking programme for female focal points in Bangkok. Fourteen beneficiaries of the WOLF initiative actively participated in the event. Their travel and full participation were entirely sponsored by INCB, providing them with a valuable opportunity to enhance their knowledge, build international networks, and engage with experts in the field of drug control.

Fostering Opportunities and Resources for Women's Advanced Advancement, Recognition and Development (FORWARD) training in Bangkok – 18 – 22 November, 2024

The students performed exceptionally well during the event, actively engaging with experts and building meaningful professional connections. They shared their personal stories and experiences, leaving a strong impression on participants and organizers alike. Upon returning to AUW, they enthusiastically shared their insights and experiences with fellow students, inspiring many of their peers to take an interest in the field of counternarcotics and explore ways to contribute to this critical area. It is also reported by the programme assistant, Ms. Barua that the special forum of knowledge sharing on this topic was set up for those students who participated in the workshop to share their experiences and learning with their peers.

Separately, CPDAP facilitated a fellowship opportunity for three alumnae from Kardan University at the UNODC office in Kabul. Ultimately, only two of the selected candidates accepted the fellowship, as the third relocated to Iran and declined the offer. The two participants who joined the fellowship demonstrated a high level of professionalism, commitment, and competence during their placements. As a result, both were offered further opportunities to serve as UN Volunteers with UNODC. However, due to personal circumstances, only one of the fellows continued her engagement with UNODC Kabul, while the other also left the country.

To ensure the safety and security of the fellows during their assignments at UNODC Kabul office, CPDAP arranged transportation support by contracting a trusted driver with a private vehicle.

As part of the project's ongoing progress and development, the Agreement Officer's Representative (AOR) and CPDAP staff held regular monthly coordination calls. These meetings were instrumental in keeping the project on track, monitoring progress, and addressing any challenges that arose in a timely manner. This consistent coordination played a key role in ensuring the smooth and effective implementation of the project's objectives.

To conclude the project in a constructive and thoughtful manner, DAP representatives, Ms. Oranooch Sungkhawanna, CPDAP Director, and Ms. Gulmira Suleymanova, Programme Manager, conducted a final monitoring visit to Chittagong, Bangladesh, from 29 July to 2

Visiting AUW with DAP Staff

August 2025. The purpose of the trip was to hold on-site meetings with the students and AUW personnel, to formally express appreciation for their active participation and collaboration throughout the programme, and to discuss the proper submission of final reports and documentation. A brief report of the monitoring visit appears in the annex.

However, upon arrival, AUW advised conducting the meetings online rather than in person, out of consideration for the emotional well-being of the students during this sensitive phase of project closure. This recommendation was respected and implemented to ensure a respectful and supportive conclusion to the initiative.

PROJECT MONITORING

To ensure the efficient implementation of the project and keep all activities on track, we conducted regular monthly meetings with the project's Agreement Officer's Representative (AOR). During these meetings, we provided updates on project deliverables, shared any issues or concerns, and worked collaboratively to identify and implement timely solutions. This consistent coordination proved highly effective in addressing challenges promptly and maintaining steady progress toward project goals.

Project monitoring encompassed both management oversight and academic progress tracking. This comprehensive approach allowed us to closely follow the implementation of activities while also assessing the students' educational development. Through regular monitoring, we were able to identify areas where additional guidance or intervention was required, enabling us to provide timely, personalized support to the beneficiaries and ensure the overall effectiveness of the project.

Monitoring of the Management:

As previously mentioned, CPDAP took great care in supporting both the project activities and its beneficiaries. To enhance coordination and communication, Ms. Poushali Barua maintained regular contact with the students through a created WhatsApp group, which proved to be an effective channel for promptly addressing concerns.

When students raised issues whether related to accommodation, laptop repairs, stipend payments, travel arrangements, or academic matters Ms. Barua promptly relayed them to the Programme Manager. Together, CPDAP worked to resolve these concerns in close coordination with AUW and INL, ensuring timely and appropriate responses to the students' needs. This close collaboration with AUW included regular coordination meetings, joint resolution of urgent matters, and the timely submission of quarterly narrative and financial reports, as well as the final project reports (attached as Annexes).

Monitoring of the Study Progress

In terms of academic performance, AUW submitted students' grade reports on a semester basis, which allowed us to closely monitor their progress. For those students whose GPA fell below 2.0, CPDAP took immediate action to provide additional support. As part of this intervention, CPDAP issued formal warning letters to the students, outlining the seriousness of the situation and emphasizing the need for academic improvement in order to maintain their scholarship status.

At the same time, CPDAP worked closely with both AUW staff and the students themselves to develop strategies for academic support. This included identifying specific challenges, encouraging the use of available academic resources, and promoting closer engagement with faculty and support services. Our goal focused on empowering the students to improve their academic standing and continue benefiting from the scholarship. This collaborative approach helped ensure that students at risk received the guidance and encouragement they needed to succeed.

The final monitoring trip that took place from 30th July to 1st of August, 2025 in Bangladesh provided a valuable opportunity for key project personnel including DAP Director Ms. Oranooch Sungkhawanna, Programme Manager Ms. Gulmira Suleymanova, and Programme Assistant Ms. Poushali Barua to come together and conduct a comprehensive review of the project's final phase. During this visit, the team discussed the critical steps needed for a smooth and well-documented project closure.

The staff meeting

One of the primary objectives was to outline the process for collecting all final documents and files from AUW, including academic records, financial documentation, and administrative reports, which are essential for compliance, reporting, and audit purposes. On 31st July, CPDAP held an online meeting with AUW key personnel to formally express our gratitude for their continued support and collaboration throughout the project. During the meeting, CPDAP also received a commitment for the submission of the remaining documents required for the project's closure.

Online Meeting with AUW staff

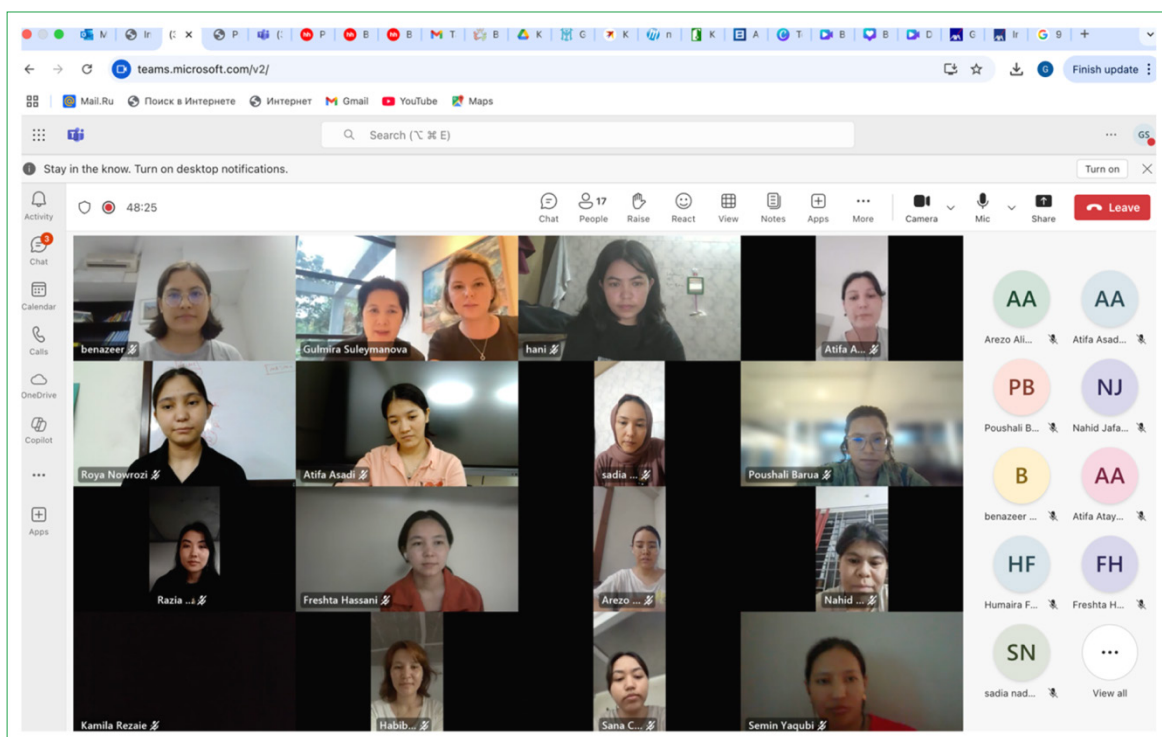

It is worth noting that AUW has consistently proven to be a highly reliable and responsive partner. Throughout the project, they addressed issues promptly and demonstrated a strong commitment to the success of the initiative, for which CPDAP and INL are well recognized their extremely good collaboration.

Separately, CPDAP had the valuable opportunity to meet with the beneficiaries online. However, due to ongoing examinations, not all 32 students were able to attend the session. Despite this, the meeting proved to be highly meaningful and impactful.

During the conversation, CPDAP expressed our heartfelt sadness regarding the project's closure and reassured the students of our continued support. CPDAP emphasized that we are actively exploring future opportunities to assist them further, even beyond the formal conclusion of this initiative.

Many of the girls were visibly upset and unable to hold back their tears, which was a clear reflection of how deeply they valued the program and the support they received through it.

In addition, the team jointly identified the remaining tasks and responsibilities that need to be completed in the coming weeks to ensure a seamless and orderly closure of the project. This included finalizing reports, ensuring all deliverables are accounted for, and maintaining clear communication with AUW and INL throughout the wrap-up process.

Online Meeting with the beneficiaries

PROGRESS REVIEW AND INTERNAL EVALUATION

In line with the LOA approval, the project support started from August 2023, and by the early project termination date, the beneficiaries completed pre-Academy levels and the majority began their degree at UG level 1. Some of the girls started the UG-1 level earlier due to the successful completion of the Academy level.

To ensure the project remained on track and advanced effectively, CPDAP established systematic coordination and evaluation mechanisms at multiple levels. Regular progress reviews and internal evaluations were complemented by consultations with the project's Agreement Officer's Representative (AOR), AUW management, and other stakeholders. This collaborative approach strengthened oversight, facilitated timely problem-solving, and supported capacity-building initiatives, such as leadership skills development, ultimately ensuring effective implementation and sustained impact.

1. PROJECT PROGRESS REVIEW

In order to ensure the efficiency of project implementation, project progress review and internal evaluation have periodically been done through monthly meetings with the project's Agreement Officer's Representative (AOR) and periodic consultations with CPDAP management. These sessions ensured timely updates on deliverables, collaborative problem-solving, and steady progress toward project goals. When issues arose, we also worked with AUW management to ensure smooth coordination among the beneficiaries, AUW, and CPDAP. Monitoring combined management oversight with academic progress tracking, allowing the team to identify needs early and provide targeted support to beneficiaries.

2. PROJECT COORDINATION AND MANAGEMENT

The review of project implementation especially with beneficiaries at the target level was carried out by the CPDAP programme assistance who was located in Chittagong and worked closely with university staffs on the daily coordination with beneficiaries on several issues both academic and non-academic issues. The WhatsApp group was set up to share information and/or announcement between CPDAP staff and students on related matters during their academic term. The CPDAP programme assistant will also handle the monthly stipend payment and keep records of the payment. To support the study of the students, the project also supported laptops and coordinated on maintenance issues when necessary. In close coordination with the university and students at the ground level, the programme assistant helped to ensure that the project implementation was carried out in the right track as planned.

3. LEADERSHIP SKILL ENHANCEMENT

As reported above, 14 girls were supported by INCB to participate in the INCB FORWARD for Enforcement Initiative held in Bangkok. That was an intensive leadership and technical capacity-building event aimed at enhancing global enforcement capabilities in combating synthetic drug and chemical trafficking. The event was attended by 50 participants from law enforcement, regulatory agencies, drug control bodies, and postal security services from Bangladesh, Brazil, Canada, Ghana, Maldives, Mexico, Nigeria, Trinidad, Turkiye, the USA, Vietnam, as well as organisations such as CARICOM IMPACS, the Colombo Plan, International Association of Police, and the Universal Postal Union. The girls were inspired by the experts that took part in the training and their stories, and the majority expressed the desire to work in the field of drugs. The inspiration among the girls after the event, the lessons learned were brought up and shared during the knowledge sharing sessions among Afghanistan communities at AUW.

4. STUDENT ACADEMIC PROGRESS

To assess the students' academic progress, we regularly requested GPA results from AUW, as described in the section Project Monitoring – Monitoring of Study Progress. In addition, to further evaluate performance and address concerns, we established a coordination mechanism between AUW and the beneficiaries. This system proved highly effective in promptly identifying and resolving any issues that arose during the course of project implementation. CPDAP also issued a letter to the beneficiaries individually to accelerate the attention for her academic performance improvement.

5. PROJECT COORDINATION WITH INTERNATIONAL PARTNERS

We maintained close coordination with another key project partner, the UNODC Kabul office. Thanks to the support of Ms. Anooba Sood, we successfully facilitated fellowship placements for two beneficiaries, Masooda Hameedi and Mursal Saddiqi, enabling them to gain valuable professional experience in their field. We closely monitored their progress through regular communication with the UNODC Kabul team, ensuring that they received the necessary guidance and support. This collaboration yielded a tangible result: Mursal Saddiqi, in recognition of her strong performance during the fellowship, was offered and accepted a UN Volunteer position with UNODC, starting on 1 November 2024, a significant milestone in her professional journey.

6. INTERNSHIP OPPORTUNITIES

During the course of project implementation, we successfully secured online internship opportunities with the UNODC Maritime Programme and the International Narcotics Control Board (INCB). Fourteen beneficiaries were considered to participate in the INCB internship, while two beneficiaries were supposed to be placed with the UNODC Maritime Programme. These placements could provide the girls with valuable hands-on experience and exposure to the work of international organizations. In addition, internship and fellowship opportunities for the rest of the girls were under development.

Unfortunately, due to the early termination of the project, it was not possible to fully assess the achievement of the overall project objectives. Nevertheless, AUW confirmed its commitment to supporting the beneficiaries, who have agreed to continue their studies at the university with AUW's assistance.

CHALLENGES

1. The political situation in Afghanistan

The environment in Afghanistan remains highly unstable, with ongoing political and security uncertainties. This instability limits the range of opportunities available to the beneficiaries, particularly women. The country currently offers extremely limited employment opportunities for women. This lack of professional prospects poses a serious concern for their long-term career development after the girls complete their degree.

2. The global economic crisis

The global economic crisis has placed additional pressure on sponsoring organizations, resulting in reduced funding capacity. This financial constraint has the potential to limit future support mechanisms for beneficiaries, including fellowships, internships, and continued education opportunities.

3. The high expectations of the beneficiaries

The project early termination affects quite a wide range of scholarship provisions for beneficiaries at the early stage of the current project implementation. However, the young Afghan girls decided to continue their studies within the limited resources provided by the AUW.

RECOMMENDATIONS

1. INL consider continuing support for the project activities as this project is unique with the combination of education and humanitarian purposes and provide great opportunities for young generation of women in the field of counternarcotics.
2. CPDAP would recommend INL to consider flexibility in arranging budget line items for the project such as the funds from airfare costs to stipend support. This is highly requested by the beneficiaries to address their significant concern and frustration due to financial constraints.
3. Beneficiaries also recommended for an increased stipend support to effectively address their immediate needs and contribute to their continued well-being and academic success.

CONCLUSIONS

This project has been truly unique in its design and humanitarian purpose, aimed at empowering a vulnerable group, young Afghan women, through education and professional development in the critical field of counternarcotics. At a time when Afghanistan faces immense social, political, and economic challenges, this initiative provided these women with invaluable opportunities to gain knowledge, skills, and international exposure that would have otherwise been inaccessible.

Beyond academic progress, the project contributed significantly to fostering leadership, resilience, and a sense of agency among the beneficiaries. By investing in these young women, the project not only supported their personal growth but also laid the groundwork for a future generation of informed and capable leaders who can actively contribute to Afghanistan's development and the global fight against narcotics.

Despite the early termination of the project, the impact it has made is undeniable. The beneficiaries' continued commitment to their studies and professional pursuits, supported by partner institutions like AUW-, speaks to the lasting value of this initiative. Moving forward, sustained support and flexibility from donors and partners will be crucial to build on these achievements and continue advancing the goals of empowerment, education, and positive change.

In summary, this project stands as a model of how targeted, well-coordinated efforts can create meaningful opportunities in even the most challenging contexts highlighting the power of education as a tool for humanitarian impact and social transformation.

Student Feedback

1. My name is Parwana Jamal, and I am one of the INL Scholars. Since the start of this scholarship, we have been very hopeful about building a bright future. I want to sincerely thank INL and The Colombo Plan for their support, they truly did their best for us. From every point of view, this scholarship was excellent. It supported us financially and provided important facilities such as Personal Laptops, which many of us could not afford due to our families' limited income.

Another highlight was that I was among the 14 students who had the opportunity to attend an international conference in Thailand. Experiences like this conference gave us valuable exposure and strengthened our academic and professional backgrounds.

Personally, I was very happy when I received this scholarship and signed the agreement with the Colombo Plan. According to the agreement, after completing our bachelor's degree, we would be given the opportunity to work with them for 6 months to 1 year. This opportunity completely reduced our worries about what would happen after graduating from AUW.

This scholarship was not only financial support but also a source of hope for a better future. From the conference, we also learned that we should never give up but instead move forward without being held back by the past and make the best use of current opportunities to reach our goals.

Finally, I want to express my deep gratitude to every member of the Colombo Plan team who worked so hard for us and gave their best. Wishing you all the best, and thank you so much.

Ms. Parwana Jamal Khan

2. I would like to sincerely thank INL and the Colombo Plan for continuous support over the months. Your financial assistance and the laptop provided have been extremely helpful and meaningful for me.
I truly appreciate your generosity and encouragement. Your support has made a significant difference, and I am very grateful and thank you for everything.

3. Being part of the INL and the Colombo Plan scholarship program has been a truly meaningful experience for me. This Support has given me the opportunity to continue my education with confidence and hope for the future. It has not only helped me academically but also encouraged me to work harder toward my goals. I am very grateful for this scholarship and for the chance it provides to students like me to grow, learn, and make a positive difference.

- . The Colombo plan helped me in many ways. They helped me to have bigger dreams and see successful women that you also can become like them and they helped me financially as well I could buy myself a phone and sent some money to my mom too. They were planning to give some other opportunities as well but unfortunately it could not happen but still, I am thankful that I was one of students among those scholars. And of course, the biggest help for me was laptop I needed it so badly and they provided me with a good Laptop so I can study and do my assignments with it. I hope they get back their strength and help more students who are suffering like me and my other friends. Being a girl in Asian countries is so difficult The Colombo plan made it easier. Thanks a lot for everything.

- . First, I would like to express my sincere gratitude for the opportunity to participate in the INL and The Colombo Plan scholarship program. It was a valuable experience that helped me develop both academically and personally. I appreciate the effort and support that the program provided in the initial phase.

However, now we are not receiving any continued support or follow-up assistance. Many of us still face challenges in terms of academic guidance, career counseling, and mentoring opportunities. We feel that a more structured long-term support system even after the scholarship period would be extremely beneficial. This could include regular check-ins, access to updated learning resources, online workshops, or networking opportunities with alumni.

I truly believe that the INL program has great potential and can have an even stronger impact if some follow-up mechanisms are introduced for current and past recipients. Thank you for your attention and for considering our feedback.

- . I would like to express my sincere gratitude for the Colombo-Plan and INL scholarship program, which has been an incredibly valuable experience. The financial sponsorship and stipend greatly supported my academic and professional growth. I especially appreciate the opportunity to participate in last year's workshop in Thailand, which was truly empowering, insightful, and transformative. The knowledge, skills, and confidence I gained through this program have inspired me to continue striving toward my goals. Although the scholarship ended in May 2025, its positive impact remains strong. I feel honored to have been part of this initiative and remain deeply thankful for the support provided.

Thank you for your support.

FINAL PROGRESS REPORT

To: The Colombo Plan Drug Advisory Programme (DAP)

From: Asian University for Women Support Foundation (AUWSF)

August 2017 – August 2021

PROJECT OVERVIEW

In 2017, The Colombo Plan Drug Advisory Programme (DAP) and Asian University for Women Support Foundation (AUWSF) entered into an agreement in support of the four-year Project titled “Scholarship for Female Afghans.” DAP, established by The Colombo Plan, undertook the Project as part of its social education development programs.

The Project took place at Asian University for Women (AUW), located in Chittagong, Bangladesh. Opened in 2008, AUW is a liberal arts and sciences institution dedicated to the education of women from across Asia and beyond. The University is uniquely positioned to educate and cultivate a rising network of female Afghan leaders who are bent on making a difference in their communities, including addressing the devastating challenges related to illicit narcotics. Under the Project, DAP selected and awarded full scholarships to AUW Afghan students interested in pursuing post-graduation employment in counter-narcotics-related fields.

FUNDING SUPPORT

Under this project, DAP provided funding totaling $672,818.08. The funds were allocated and used for AUW Afghan student scholarships, which include tuition, student room and board and miscellaneous fees. Funding also covered outreach for new student recruitment and summer capstone courses for DAP Scholars.

PROJECT ACTIVITIES

Key Activities:

A. Engage DAP in the assignment of scholarships to 25 students.

Throughout the Project, AUW engaged DAP in the assignment of 32 scholarship recipients, 9 scholars in Year 1, 5 scholars in Year 2, 14 scholars in Year 3, and 16 scholars in Year 4.

B. Conduct summer capstones on relevant counter-narcotics courses for the 25 DAP scholars.

AUW conducted two summer capstones on relevant counter-narcotics topics. These capstones were titled Practicum on Organizational Accountability Management and International Policies on Narcotics Trade.

OUTCOMES & IMPACT

This project aimed to support 25 Afghan women. Throughout the project, we reached 32 scholars. One alumna, Zahra Rezae, while not a DAP Scholar, was named an MCN Fellow through DAP.

			Zahra Rezae (MCN Fellow)

During the Project, beneficiaries received full scholarship funding. Scholarship support played a vital role in allowing students to focus on their studies by reducing financial stress. In addition to scholarship funding, beneficiaries were provided with unique opportunities as part of their DAP scholarship. Students participated in two Summer Capstone courses, including Practicum on Organizational Accountability Management and International Policies on Narcotics Trade; they pursued summer internships back home in Afghanistan; and they had the opportunity to participate in a post-graduate fellowship with the Afghan Ministry of Counter Narcotics (MCN).

Overall, support from DAP enabled AUW to continue its mission of providing an education to talented young women from across the region, and in particular, its dedicated effort to support a rising generation of Afghan women.

As of 2025, AUW alumnae are making significant contributions around the world in fields such as education, public health, journalism, nonprofit leadership, and finance. They have pursued advanced degrees at universities including Arizona State University, the University of Maryland, Brown University, and the University of Glasgow. Many now hold leadership and professional positions where they are shaping policy, driving social change, and serving communities globally. This impact demonstrates how the donor's support has transformed lives and created a wider ripple effect of empowerment.

Among them, Maryam graduated with a Master of Science in Finance from Arizona State University's W. P. Carey School of Business, becoming the first among her group dispersed from AUW to graduate there. In her role as a Management Intern within the ASU Office of the President, she is gaining critical experience in financial operations and team collaboration. She aims to eventually pursue a Ph.D. and build a career as a financial analyst that bridges international educational and business environments.

Fatema Hosseini, after earning her master's degree in Investigative Journalism from the University of Maryland, has become a respected journalist with her reporting featured in outlets such as USA Today and CNN. She continues to give voice to issues of human rights, inequality, and global affairs. Another graduate, Fatima Muradi, completed her Master's in Public Administration at Syracuse University and now serves as a Program Associate at Arabella Advisors where she supports philanthropic and social impact initiatives.

Similarly, Farahnaz Walizada earned her master's degree in International Business and Global Affairs at Arizona State University supported by a fellowship with the Open Society Foundation. She now works as a Program Associate at Arabella Advisors, where she leverages her public policy and philanthropic expertise to drive programmatic impact and social change.

CHALLENGES & LESSONS LEARNED

One of the main challenges faced during the Project related to students' summer internships and post-graduate fellowships. Students found that while these opportunities were fruitful, looking back, they wished they had more preparation ahead of their placement opportunities, particularly on what to expect when working in a professional workplace. The constructive feedback that AUW received was heard and understood. Thanks to students' willingness to speak up, the University has asked the career development center to design internship and post-graduation preparation trainings addressing essential workplace knowledge, such as office etiquette, use of technology, and communication with supervisors and peers. In the future, students will be better equipped to engage in these formative professional opportunities.

SUSTAINABILITY & NEXT STEPS

In order to continue the momentum made throughout the Project, AUW plans to continue its recruitment of Afghan women. As a result of DAP's support, AUW is much better equipped to implement programming surrounding the issue of illicit narcotics and related topics.

VISIBILITY & COMMUNICATION

During the project, AUW published its 2018 and 2019 Annual Reports. In each report, AUW included the Colombo Plan in the giving section among the list of generous donors.

FINAL PROGRESS REPORT

To: The Colombo Plan Drug Advisory Programme (DAP)

From: Asian University for Women Support Foundation (AUWSF)

August 2023 – January 2025

PROJECT OVERVIEW

In 2023, The Colombo Plan Drug Advisory Programme (DAP) and Asian University for Women Support Foundation (AUWSF) entered into an agreement in support of the four year and five-month Project titled “Scholarship for Female Afghans.” DAP, established by The Colombo Plan, undertook the Project as part of its social education development programs.

The Project took place at Asian University for Women (AUW), located in Chittagong, Bangladesh. Opened in 2008, AUW is a liberal arts and sciences institution dedicated to the education of women from across Asia and beyond. The University is uniquely positioned to educate and cultivate a rising network of female Afghan leaders who are bent on making a difference in their communities, including addressing the devastating challenges related to illicit narcotics. Under the Project, DAP selected and awarded full scholarships to 32 AUW Afghan students interested in pursuing post-graduation employment in counter-narcotics-related fields.

FUNDING SUPPORT

Under the Project, DAP provided funding totaling $1,061,079.35 between August 2023 – January 2025. The funds received were allocated and used for Afghan student scholarships, which covered tuition, healthcare (mental and physical care), student activities, a dorm room and three meals per day, textbooks and educational supplies, and a monthly stipend. The funds were also allocated and used for overhead expenses related to scholarships.

In January 2025, funding support from DAP was discontinued. As a result, the remaining funds allocated for the 32 DAP scholarships were not disbursed. Additionally, funds for counter-narcotics training courses that were to be utilized further into the Project were not disbursed.

PROJECT ACTIVITIES

Project Objective: To provide financial aid and academic support to 32 female students of AUW in preparation for undertaking key public service roles.

Key Activities:

A. Facilitate four-year scholarships through DAP for 32 AUW students.

Between August 2023 – January 2025, 32 AUW students were named DAP Scholars. Thanks to DAP funding, students were able to participate fully in their studies. By the end of the award, Scholars continued to advance through the University's Pre-Undergraduate and Undergraduate programs, engaging in a wide range of courses, including Introduction to Ethical Reasoning; Women's Health and Reproductive Rights; Computational Thinking and Programming; General Chemistry; Comparative Religion; Debate and Public Speaking; Probability and Statistics; History of West Asia; and Introduction to the History of Medicine, Science & Technology.

Due to the early termination of the award, full four-year scholarship support from DAP was not provided.

B. Facilitate online internships at UNODC and other UN agencies as a condition for receipt of scholarship.

The Project was discontinued before AUW was able to begin this activity.

C. Facilitate counternarcotics training sessions at AUW.

The Project was discontinued before AUW was able to begin this activity.

OUTCOMES & IMPACT

This Project aimed to reach 32 Afghan women. Throughout the Project, we were able to reach a total of 34 Afghan women. Two additional students were originally supported as scholarship recipients; however, both withdrew from their studies. As a result, AUWSF worked with DAP to include two new scholarship recipients.

16	Masooma Saberi		Alina Gawhary (withdrew)
17	Muqadas Noori		Aziza Fayaz (withdrew)

During the Project, beneficiaries received full scholarship funding. Scholarship support played a vital role in allowing students to focus on their studies by reducing financial stress. Support from DAP also enabled AUW to continue its mission of educating talented young women from across the region, and in particular, its dedicated effort to support a rising generation of Afghan women.

In addition to tuition, students were provided with a monthly stipend that ensured they could meet their basic needs and engage fully in campus life. By removing financial barriers, the scholarship allowed these young women to dedicate themselves to their academic journey, while also exploring leadership, advocacy, and extracurricular opportunities that helped them grow holistically.

Beyond financial relief, the scholarship created a safe and supportive environment where Afghan students, many of whom came from conflict-affected backgrounds, found stability, encouragement, and a sense of community. At AUW they were able to pursue rigorous academics while also participating in cultural exchanges, student organizations, and leadership training. This environment gave them the confidence to express themselves, the skills to lead, and the resilience to overcome challenges both inside and outside the classroom.

CHALLENGES & LESSONS LEARNED

One challenge we encountered during the grant award pertained to the unexpected withdrawal of two scholarship recipients. While we were able to find two more qualified students to take on the scholarship, the students' departure highlighted the importance of early and continuous academic support for students.

Additionally, since the grant has been discontinued, AUW has demonstrated a firm commitment to continue funding these scholars. This necessitated transferring funds from other internal sources, resulting in an overall financial constraint for the institution. Furthermore, the Afghan students had been anticipating opportunities offered through the grant, including counter-narcotics training sessions and online internships, which would involve important networking opportunities with industry leaders and experience in the field, ideally leading to post-graduation opportunities. The absence of these offerings has presented AUW with the difficult challenge of identifying post-graduation pathways for these students. Without such alternatives, these scholars face the risk of being unable to pursue career advancement or higher education in counter-narcotics fields.

SUSTAINABILITY & NEXT STEPS

Although funding through DAP has been discontinued, AUW will not turn its back on the 32 former DAP Scholars. At this time, AUWSF is exploring alternative funding sources to ensure that these students are able to continue their education and graduate as part of a growing network of Afghan women leaders.

AUW remains steadfast in its commitment to these scholars and is intensifying efforts to secure partnerships and opportunities globally to support their post-graduation transitions, mitigating the impact of the grant's discontinuation.

VISIBILITY & COMMUNICATION

During the Project, AUW did not make publications regarding the partnership.
